

Govt to auction 4 GW wind projects this financial year

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, April 21

THE GOVERNMENT PLANS to auction wind power projects of about 4 gigawatt (GW) capacity in tranches this year and the first round of bidding is expected to take place next month, a senior official said on Friday.

"We have planned to set up about 4 GW of wind power capacities through auction route. The auction would be done in batches. The first batch of such auction is being planned next month," Solar Energy Corporation of India (SECI) managing director Ashvini Kumar said.

The SECI is the nodal agency for holding auction of 4 GW wind power projects this fiscal.

The auction is part of the government's plan to set up wind power capacity of 60 GW by 2022. "There should be auction of 5-6 GW wind power capacity every year after this fiscal for meeting the target of 60 GW wind energy by 2022," Kumar said.

The government has decided to go through the bidding route as the first ever auction of wind power projects in February 2017 had seen power tariffs falling to all-time low of ₹3.46 per unit.

Wind power capacity of 1 GW was auctioned by SECI in February.

Power minister Piyush Goyal in February had indicated that the government could go for more such auctions in future as the average wind tariff, that was hovering above ₹5 per unit earlier due to feeding of rates and lack of transparency, dropped to all-time low of ₹3.46 per unit in tariff-based bidding.

The wind power tariff has been decided on the basis of inputs, such as cost of land and equipment, and borrowing expenses; provided by power regulators.
